

São Pau

An illustration of two people, a man and a woman, interacting with a large digital screen. The woman is seated on a white chair at a white table, gesturing towards the screen. The man is standing to the right, pointing at the screen with his right hand. The screen displays a document with a circular logo at the top and several lines of text below. The background is a light gray with a large, faint circular shape and several smaller white circles of varying sizes.

